As criticism mounts over Israel's violation of Palestinian human rights and international law, campaigns to silence and repress those who speak out against Israeli apartheid and US complicity have grown alarmingly. Scholars have been denied jobs, refused tenure and promotion, rejected for funding, and expelled from institutions, while student organizations have faced harassment and sanctions. We Will Not Be Silenced offers thirteen powerful, firsthand testimonials from scholars and students whose struggle to defend their academic freedom and free speech has garnered widespread public and international attention.

William I. Robinson is a professor of sociology at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Robinson is also affiliated with the Latin American and Iberian Studies Program, and with the Global and International Studies Program at UCSB.

Lisa B. Rofel is a professor of Anthropology at the University of California, Santa Cruz (UC Santa Cruz), where she is the director of The Center for Emerging Worlds. Rofel's focus of study is China.
